WAIST LINE HAS RETURNED

(By MARIAN HALE.)

After a period of drapings which have concealed lines, good and bad, there is a strong tendency toward return of the well-defined waist line. Few models shown for spring lack a belt or at least something which reveals a gentle curving at the hips.

Sashes, like the one shown on this Schroeder frock, are rarely made of material similar to that of the dress itself. This is pussy willow or velvet beaded at the edge to give it weight.

Chiffon is being used much for sashes and one finds that instead of being it—over in past days every edge must be properly trimmed—it is simply cut and allowed to fray at will. Chiffon thus treated is an admirable sash medium and is used on frocks for day wear as well as evening.

house being centered with a fruit basket and crystal holders with green candles. Hand made nut baskets were favors. A short business session was held and a few suggestions were made. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Floyd Pease, 53 South Third street, February 9.

The P. O. U. club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Scott Orr at her home in Maholm street Friday afternoon. Needlework and contests were enjoyed. Mrs. Charles Martin received the honors in the contest. An appetizing luncheon was served. The club will meet with Mrs. Charles Martin in West Main street, February third.

Silly Girls Who Break Up Homes

(By WINONA WILCOX.)

The world needs a new morality," writes a girl. "I am madly in love with a married man. He loves me, but unless we break the laws, we must remain perfectly wretched. I have no possible cause for divorce, but our love has its right—etc."

Those who consider the old morality still workable for the general and individual good will appreciate another letter which shows what goes on in the mind of a wife when a too-romantic husband yields to forbidden charms.

"I have seen many complaints from girls who love married men and who swear they can't live without another woman's husband, but never have I seen one from a young mother who has been cheated. My experience probably is about the average.

"Eighteen months after my marriage, my husband left me for a girl. She had fallen in love with him to such an extent that she went out of her way to meet him daily. She was 'young and innocent,' he thought, and man-like he was fastened and finally succumbed.

"Now the girl knew the story was on his way to our house, but that made no difference to her. We had made no difference to her. We had longed to the same social set, and together, she would scheme to make him leave me and go to her. Every body noticed.

"But my husband would not let me refer to her. He said I was jealous.

"Mine was righteous jealousy, I believed then and I believe now. I would have been a poor creature had I not been so jealous. What those jealous creatures expected me to pass over.

"As a self-respecting woman, I could not continue to live with a man who had fallen in love with another girl in the face of a vulgar temptation.

"My respect for him went with my confidence in him. His presence in the same room became an offense to me. And so I went home to my parents.

"Well, after my child was born, I established a small business and met with success. Financially we are safe. But here is the point: My little son's life is incomplete, he has no father.

"Our tragedy is great. And what was it all for?

"A man's temporary infatuation. The girl is now in love with another married man. And my husband is footloose, he has no home, but I will remember how he loved me and the comforts of our first home, and my cooking, and his snug corner with his pipe.

"When I read these affected letters from girls who 'just can't live without another woman's husband,' I smile.

"Can't those silly things see that the man who will give up his wife, will give up each and every girl he makes love to?

"That's so, ye shall reap."

"The girl who sows discord in another woman's home will surely reap. And she need have no fear of a scanty crop."

THrift DONT'S.

Don't be ashamed of saving pennies.
Don't buy vegetables out of season and expect low prices.
Don't fail to plan expenditures, and to keep within the limit you fix.
Don't think spendthrifts need be capitalists. One can be a spendthrift with a dollar as well as with larger sums.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You will dip soup with an away-from-you movement with your spoon.
You will, if you are to be a bride, give a bridesmaid's dinner a week before the wedding.
You will, on your wedding day, wear the bridegroom's gift.

JUDGE LINDSEY'S BEAUTIFUL WIFE AIDS ALL GIRLS.

Mrs. Ben B. Lindsey
(By ALICE ROUSE.)

Enter madam—
Young, beautiful, golden hair, big blue eyes, long curling lashes, pink and white complexion, cupid's bow lips, perfect teeth, a smile that would make even Pinocchio cry—
Madame speaks and is from her lips pour words of wisdom.
We stare—in astonishment—
What a perfect woman who combines beauty and brains!
To ask this radiant creature, who is Mrs. Ben B. Lindsey, wife of the famous judge of the Denver juvenile court—"How come?"
She replies:
"Honestly I don't see who started that theory that a woman has to be a saint to be a good mother, or a charge of the girls' work."

POLLY and PAUL ...and PARIS

By Zoe Beckley

CHAPTER XI.
A STORM.

At last, when, despite Crenshaw's comforting presence, Polly's nerves were at the snapping point, Paul's tall figure came into view—and close beside him, Violet.

"Well—nothing to be alarmed about," sung out Paul. "Perfectly simple explanation. We caught a windstorm from a vessel in distress far to the north—an S. O. S. If we had been the nearest ship, the law of the sea would have made it imperative that we go to her rescue, putting us back twenty-four hours at least. The ship here to go as to be ready to change her course toward the Grand Banks. But they got word just now that another boat was closer by seventy miles, and she's gone to the aid of the other. So that's that. Listen—the engines are pounding again. We're off!"

Paul and Crenshaw, after a few moments' wait, went off together to the smoke-room. Between Polly and Violet passed the flash of hostility that follows a feminine rivalry—over some man.

"It's odd it was nothing dangerous," said Polly's eyes. "And you've got to stop flirting with my husband!"

"I told you it was nothing serious," said Violet. "And I won't be the tug-of-war over your husband!"

They seemed to read each other's thoughts.

"You'll be glad when the voyage is over, take it," said Violet. "I'm sure you will. You've got to stop flirting with my husband!"

"I hadn't noticed it," Miss Rand stilled an elaborate yawn. "On the contrary, I thought he seemed interested."

"Paul is very polite," seemed Polly, unwinding herself from her wraps and preparing to face before she burst into tears. "I suppose in Paris—where life is so free and worth while—everybody's feelings are frankly expressed. If you excuse me, I'll go down for a nap."

Paul came into the dim light of their cabin a few moments later.

"Polly, Polly, dear, I say, wait over here, you've got to go to Violet. She says you had a regular fight on—Hello—why my own darling, what's the matter? Tell me, dearest!"

"Paul had not seen her trim there on her bed, hair in disorder, slim shoulders shaking. Now he bent over her tenderly.

"Polly answered only with renewed sobbing, pushing him away as she caught her breath convulsively. He had never seen her cry. He had never dreamed she could push him away—

"He knuck in an agony, one hand drawing her to him, the other groping for his handkerchief to wipe her tears.

"Go away! Go talk to your Miss Rand. She—interests you—I don't! (A gust of sob.) 'I'm not a celebrity like her—a writer—and singer and everything. I'm only a stupid—in-experienced—'

Paul shook her gently. "Polly—

THE BAKING POWDER QUESTION SOLVED

Most housewives proclaim that the baking powder question was solved for them the moment they used the first spoonful of Calumet. After that no doubt remained, no hoping—no searching for a perfect evenness—no wondering if bakings would "turn out all right."

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Calumet is more economical than other brands selling for less because its quality is the highest—no losses from spoiled bakings.

Use Calumet once—that's enough to prove to you that it's "best by test."

A pound can of Calumet contains full 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Personal

The condition of Mrs. T. J. Mercer, Route 1, who underwent an operation at the Sanitarium this morning is satisfactory.

Misses Dona and Alice Benson and Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Van Voorhis spent Saturday and Sunday the guests of Lee Benson in Springfield.

Harley Amspaugh of the S. S. Home of Xenia, spent the week-end with Mrs. Della Amspaugh and daughter Mary on Ballard Ave.

RENEWING DRESSING.
If the mayonnaise has stood for a period and separates, in order to bring it back to its original fresh state, beat into it a mixture of 1 cup of water and 2 tablespoons of cornstarch which has been boiled until thick.

SPOTS ON LEATHER.
Grease spots can be removed from leather if they are rubbed with sal ammoniac. After the liquid is put on it should be given sufficient time to act and then sponged off.

More than half of all the women in the United States marry before reaching the age of 25.

FROM MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

Two cups cold chopped lamb, 1 1/2 cups boiled rice, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, salt and pepper.

Put a layer of rice in a well buttered baking dish. Add a layer of meat. Continue alternating layers until all is used, having the last layer of rice. Season tomatoes with salt, pepper, onion and parsley and pour over meat and rice in dish. Let stand ten minutes. Then bake in a hot oven for half an hour. Serve this with brown bread and butter, home made pickles, tea and gingerbread.

Spaghetti with Chicken.
One cup spaghetti, cooked chicken carefully picked from the bones and diced, 2 1/2 cup diced celery, 1 small onion, 6 olives, 4 tablespoons grated cheese.

Boil spaghetti in salted water to cover for ten minutes. Cut olives from stems. The chicken may be diced or cut in strips. If the chicken is cut in strips cut the celery in shreds. Put 1 tablespoon olive oil in a frying pan. All chicken, celery, olives and thinly sliced onion. Shake over fire till brown.

Put half the spaghetti in a buttered baking dish, add chicken mixture, cover with spaghetti, sprinkle with grated cheese and brown in a hot oven. The spaghetti and filling are hot when put in the baking dish so the length of time the whole is in the oven should be short. If chicken is cooked too much when reheated it will be stringy and tough.

Fleischmann's fresh yeast

increases the action of the intestines

HUNDREDS of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the indiscriminate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 2 or 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how normally and regularly your intestines act. You can get Fleischmann's Yeast fresh daily from your grocer.

The familiar tin-foil package with the yellow label is the only form in which Fleischmann's Yeast is sold

TO CALL WORLD LEADERS

Montreal, Canada - Plans are on foot to call a conference of representatives of all the grain exporting countries for a general discussion of grain marketing problems of the world.

The Canadian grain industry is the author of the plans, and has recently concluded a long conference with the governments of the United States, Australia and other nations.

The proposal for this international conference, Mr. Hyndman says, has been favorably received and plans are being taken to carry the plans into effect. The idea is proposed by the Canadian grain board to create an international organization to eliminate violent fluctuations in prices, to regulate the movement of crops more evenly, and to insure farmers' steadier and more profitable prices.

NEW YORK WOMAN WEDS SON-IN-LAW

New York, Jan. 24 - Mrs. Sarah Wright McDonald, founder and president of the Women's Press club of this city, and her son-in-law, George L. McDonald, today go to Europe on a business trip.

Of course, I know I am old enough to be his mother, she said, but I have been at the head of the house for a good many years.

In a way we were business partners and were interested in the same things. It is the logical thing to do and there isn't any reason to make any fuss over it.

Mrs. McDonald's daughter, Mrs. McDonald, died a year ago.

Port Clinton, Fosterling and W. L. McDonald, who operate a bakery here, have bought the Germania House hotel property here for $125,000.

Finally, an increase of 11 percent in 1928's post receipts was registered during 1929, according to figures made public by Postmaster Saunders.

PRACTICAL FARMER TALKS ADVERTISING

With a slogan of "Better Products, Better Markets, Better Times," the sixth annual meeting of the Farmers' Institute opened Monday at Chatham at the Methodist church with an interesting program arranged for the two-day session. The institute opened with President A. E. Hoskinson, presiding and following a song and an invocation by Rev. Mr. Roberts, William Stone of Portage county was introduced.

Stone is a practical farmer and his talk on "Advertising Farm Products" was one of the most interesting of the session. He pointed out the importance of advertising in the sale of farm products and the need for a better understanding of the market.

At the afternoon session, William Stone again addressed the institute on the subject of "Advertising Farm Products." He pointed out the importance of advertising in the sale of farm products and the need for a better understanding of the market.

Following was the program for today:

MORNING SESSION: "Roads for the Farmer," Clyde H. Hooper, "The Farmer's Problem," Willis Lewis, "Advertising Farm Products," Wm. Stone, "The Farmer's Problem," Willis Lewis, "Advertising Farm Products," Wm. Stone.

AFTERNOON SESSION: "Public Highway," T. H. Hooper, "The Farmer's Problem," Willis Lewis, "Advertising Farm Products," Wm. Stone, "The Farmer's Problem," Willis Lewis, "Advertising Farm Products," Wm. Stone.

A special feature of the Farmers' Institute at Ohio State University, January 24-25, will be the old time fiddlers' contest which will be held at the Home Economics building at 4 o'clock Thursday, February 2.

This contest is open to country fiddlers with no entry fee of any kind. Cash prizes of $5, $10, and $25 are to be awarded the best fiddlers.

A meeting of special interest to all milk producers and consumers of dairy products will be held in room 200 Townsend Hall Tuesday, January 24.

This meeting has been planned with special reference to the interests of milk producers. A discussion of dairy marketing projects now under way in the state will be held the first hour of the program. Thursday, February 2.

This matter is of vital importance to Licking county dairymen and a big delegation should be present.

BILL WOULD AID DEPENDENTS

Vocational Training for Relatives of Men Who Died in Service Is Asked in Bill.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—A bill to provide vocational training for the dependents of men who died in the service of the United States during the world war is being introduced in the House of Representatives today.

The bill, introduced by Representative William C. Clegg of Ohio, provides that the dependents of men who died in the service of the United States during the world war shall be entitled to vocational training if they are unable to support themselves.

The bill also provides that the dependents of men who died in the service of the United States during the world war shall be entitled to vocational training if they are unable to support themselves.

SERVICE MEN GET PREFERENCE

Future Homestead Lands
Will Go to Soldiers
First, If They Want Them.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24.—For the next decade soldiers will have a virtual monopoly on all government lands owned by homesteaders. Preference rights have been granted them under a bill introduced in the House of Representatives today.

The bill, introduced by Representative William C. Clegg of Ohio, provides that the dependents of men who died in the service of the United States during the world war shall be entitled to vocational training if they are unable to support themselves.
